Dear Dr. Dlabal,

Congratulations! We are pleased to inform you that you have fulfilled the requirements necessary to be recognized as a Fellow of the American Society for Preventive Cardiology.

Being elected Fellow means that the American Society for Preventive Cardiology (ASPC) recognizes your excellence, innovation, and leadership in preventive cardiology. This honor is reserved for ASPC members who have made contributions to the mission of the ASPC.

Fellows will be recognized at the Annual Business Meeting held during the 2020 Congress on CVD Prevention in Louisville, Kentucky. You will receive a framed certificate, which we hope you will display proudly. Fellows may refer to themselves professionally as "Fellow of the ASPC" and use the designation of "FASPC" after their name. Maintenance of Fellow status will require continued membership in the ASPC, and your 2021 membership dues will be at the Fellow rate. For any questions, please contact Stacy Manthos at smanthos@aspconline.org.

We look forward to seeing you at the ASPC's 2020 Congress on CVD Prevention, July 24-26. If you have not yet registered for the congress, you can at <https://www.aspconline.org/congress2020>.

Thank you for your excellence in, and commitment to, preventive cardiology, and for your past, current and future contributions to the ASPC!

Sincerely,

Amit Khera, MD, MSc, FASPC
President
